Only One Sovereignty.

The state constitution of any state has nothing analogous to that about it There is no question in a state of any conflicting sovereignties. There is only one sovereignty, the govereignty of the people.

You are not the sovereigns neither is the executive, beither is the judiclary. All three of you possess powers delegated to you by the p. tple but not parted with by the people, and therefore, as in the national constitution. the executive branch has no power to it by the constitution. The executive body, under the state constitution, has all the power that is not forbidden it by the constitution. It is a fundamental difference I am not adverating the recall of judges. I am advocating a measura which if adopted will prevent the necessity of the recall of judge-My proposal applies only to the legislative acts which the courts declare unconstitutional. I refer specifically to lawe passed in the collective interest of the whole community, guised by the legislative body in the exercine of power to promote the general welfare, in the exercise of police pow-ar which is inherent in the legislature If such a law, duly dealing with the collective interests of the community as a whole, passed by the legislature and signed by the governor, is de-clared unconstitutional by the court, I ask that the people be given right, if they choose to exercise that right, themselves to pass final judgment.

"Consider My Proposition." It has been stated that this will substitute popular whime the whim of a assument, for the decision of the judiclary. Consider my proposition for a moment. In the first place, the house that has to pass the law has to be by return mail elected. Then the law is introduced a plain wrapper.

RIO GRANDE IMPROVEMENTS

WHEN announcement was made a few weeks ago of the election of B. F. Bush to the presidency of the Denver and Rio Grande, we predicted that it would mean the early rehabilitation of that system. Now it appears that the prediction is to be verified. Mr. Bush announced in Denver last Saturday that the directors have decided to spend $15,000,000 for improvements, one-half of which will be spent this year. Of this sum about $1,800,000 will he used to reduce the grade at Soldier Summit, on the continental divide, the effeet of which will be a considerable saving in the cost of operating trains over the divide. Extensive orders for new equipment are to be placed, and large sums spent for bridge and roadbed construction.

Fifteen million dollars is said to be the sum agreed upon by railway construction experts as necessary to put the Rio Grande in thoroughly first-class condition.

This announcement is probably more welcome to the people of Colorado than any other piece of news that could come to them from railway circles. The Rio Grande is of course our most important transportation system, becauses its lines traverse almost every portion of the state. Indeed, the relationship is so close that any decided change for good or had in the condition of the railway is certain to affect every community along its line, which virtually means the whole state.

MF INS NEW ERA OF GROWTH

In the past the Rio Grande has shared the tate of other lines controlled by the Gould family, who have the eputation of preferring dividends to efficiency. Its equipment has steadily deteriorated, with an effect on its service which usually follows in such cases. There is no doubt that this condition is partly responsible for the diversion of transcontinental passenger business to the lines north and south of Colorado, involving a serious loss of tourist travel to this state.

But the recent change of management and the newly announced policy of improvement means an end to the old-era of inefficiency. President Bush is recognized as one of the coming big men in the transportation world, and his notable successes. have been made in the field which he now enters in Colorado- that of building up mismanaged and rundown railroads. After George Gould had almost wrecked the Western Maryland, Mr. Bush was placed in charge to reorganize it, which he did with such notable success that last April he was elected president of the Missouri Pacific with full authority to make such changes as he pleased. Already he has accomplished more improvements than were made in twenty years previously, and now he is to attempt the rehabilitation of the Denver and Rio Grande. It begins to look as if the Goulds will soon have a really modern transcontinental railway system in spite of themselves, if Bush can be kept on

THE ANNUAL FIRE LOSS

ACCORDING to authoritative statistics, the annual loss of created resources by fire in the United States is $250,000.-000 a year, or $30,000 an hour. This does not include the cost of maintaining fire departments, which is said to be as much more. The average annual fire loss per capita in the United States is about three dollars, while in the eight principal European countries the average is thirty-three cents.

It is estimated that 50 per cent of the first "at occur in this country, are racilly preventable. Most of them, of course, are due to cheap and dangerous construction. But even the costliest forms of construction in use twenty years ago are now considered unsafe. For example, last month, the Equitable Life Assurance Society's building in New York was destroyed by fire, with a loss of seven lives and a property loss running well up toward the millions. The structure was built about a quarter century ago, and was then regarded not only as one satest office buildings in New York. Nevortheless, when its time came it burned as hijskly as a wonden shack.

A few weeks before the Buutable fire a blaze started in an office in the Metropolitan tower, a new and really these to a build ing to New York. But for the difference in the forms or construction employed in the two buildings the Metropolital fire probably would have been as disastious as the Liquitable fire, but in fact the only damage was to the furnishings of the room in which the plaze started

More and more the owners or costly buildings are realizing that it pays to make them really tire-proof. The first cost of course is much greater, but the saving thereafter is considerable, both in maintenance and insurance.

The fact that our per capita the incis nine times as great as that of European countries is unquestionably due to the mferiority of American building methods, for European fire departments are not to be compared with ours in efficiency. Indeed, nowhere else in the world has the arr of fire fighting been brought to the perfection attained here, but whatever pride we may have in this fact is modified by the realization that nowhere else is it necessary to make such heroic exertions to protect life and property from fire loss.

__ It is wise to invest your surplus money where it is safe and secured by an abundance of first-class assets. We are selling a limited amount of our unissued, guaranteed, preferred stock. This stock is guaranteed to pay 8% per annum, payable quarterly, and further contains the clause whereby it participates in the total net profits each year over and above the 8%. Our candid opinion is that this stock will not a dividend of fully 15% this year at the rate our business is increasing and may pay a greater dividend.

Basing our estimates on the earnings of our company for the past few years. Our company now has over $900,000,00 worth of assets. consisting of lands, city property and mortgages. Our authorized capital is $1,000,000,00 with a paid up capital of between $700,000,00 and  HITTHE THE

We are selling this stock to increase our working capital, enabling us to do a still larger and more profitable business and sharing the profits with our stockholders rather than the loan companies.

We have been established here in the land and realty business since 1900, and have largely increased our business each year. We expect to make our company one of the largest land companies in the west. We can convince any one wishing to become a stockholder in our company that the investment is safe and profitable. We invite you to call at our offices and we will show you a certified statement, compiled by one of the best expert auditors of the city.
